Dear Lufi Yuwana Mursita,

Thank you for submitting your manuscript "Types of Control, Ethical Work Climates, and Organizational Citizenship Behavior in the Work-from-Home Setting: Lesson Learned from the Covid-19 Pandemic" to the Indonesian Journal of Accounting Research.

The editorial team and a group of expert reviewers have assessed your submission and recommended that you should have an opportunity to re-submit.

We appreciate that your paper addresses interesting topics in accounting research, but there were some concerns raised with regard to research motivations, theoretical background, research data, and other aspects of the paper.

Please see the reviewer's comments for further details about necessary revisions. You must adequately respond to the referee(s) and outline how you have done so in a separate letter. We ask that you submit the revised version of your manuscript by 31 July 2023.

We expect you to respond to this revised and resubmit request within the due date. After that, we will presume you have withdrawn your submission from the Indonesian Journal of Accounting Research.

Please let us know your decision to revise & re-submit when you have had time to consider these comments.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

INSTRUCTIONS TO REVISE AND RESUBMIT:

How to upload a paper revision to IJAR website:

1. Login to the IJAR website at <https://ijar-iaikapd.or.id/> with the account you used to upload the paper.
2. Click on the submitted paper title.
3. Click the "Review" menu.
4. If the revision is complete, please upload the revised paper in the "Upload Author Version" section.
5. Please, also upload a file containing an explanation of your responses to the reviewers' comment (i.e., a response to reviewers' comment document). The upload procedure is similar to step no.4 above.

Reviewer A:

- How does the type of management control influence Organizational Citizenship Behavior (OCB) in a work-from-home setting? Please expound on this in your manuscript.
- What is the mediating role of ethical work climates between the two aforementioned variables? Please address this in your manuscript.

- What are the most effective types of control in involuntary enabled remote working settings? Please delve into this in your manuscript.
- Consider employing simpler language and more straightforward sentence structures to render the text more accessible to a wider audience. The use of technical terms and complex sentences may impede some readers' understanding of the key points.
- The introduction could be enhanced with a more explicit statement of the research problem and the significance of the study. Clarifying the research objective and its anticipated contribution could help engage readers and motivate them to continue reading.
- Please provide more context and background information about the work-from-home setting and its impact on employees' behavior and job performance. This information could assist readers in understanding the research question's importance and relevance to current workplace issues.

Reviewer B:

- In the abstract, please include the amount of data used.
- What's novel about your research? How does your research position itself in relation to prior studies? What is the relationship between them?
- What contributions does your research make, both theoretically and practically? Please discuss this at the end of the introduction.
- Why did you opt for the Social Learning Theory? Any justification?
- Please clarify the statements in each hypothesis. For example, who implements the "Results control"? Who are its targets?
- In the research method, please explain how respondent data was obtained, the means of its dissemination, the sampling method employed, the response rate, and justification for using that method.
- Was there a pilot test conducted before the survey was disseminated?
- Consider conducting a multi-group analysis, such as male vs. female, high level vs. low-level staff, high experience vs. low experience. The results will be more intriguing.
